

Remote control tank

T-M219

Introduction to works

Remote control steering tank is mainly made of wood

It is composed of a board, TT motor, four-way board, antenna, belt, optical axis, bushing, screws and buttons. This small scientific production can not only cultivate children's working ability, hands-on ability and independent thinking ability, but also enable children to learn real scientific knowledge while having fun, and increase children's interest in endless exploration of the world of science.

Knowledge Principle

Remote control tank refers to the realization of non-contact remote control of the controlled target. The remote control system generally consists of a transmitter and a receiver. The radio transmitter is generally composed of a high-frequency carrier oscillator that can produce constant-amplitude oscillations and a low-frequency oscillator that produces a low-frequency modulation signal.

Operating Steps

"I forget what I hear, but I remember what I see."

"I've done it, I'll just forget it."

1. See.

2. Do.
